Mylapore MLA, now minister for Food, Civil Supplies

By Our Edit Team

P. Venkataramanan, Mylapore MLA has taken charge as Tamil Nadu minister for Food, Civil Supplies, Consumer Protection, and Price Control. He held a meeting with top officials of the department at the office. At the MLA office in Alwarpet, the MLA has met representatives of local RWAs, like Mandaveli Raja Street and RAPRA.

He also visited the Nag-eswara Rao Park, reviewed the work with GCC officials and asked them to complete it quickly.

He has also taken time off to go on 'thank you' rounds of the constituency; some areas have been covered this far.

GCC units hyperactive to complaints

By Baskar Seshadri

Local GCC unit engineers have been acting fast on key civic issues affecting Mylapore. This follows the appointment of a new commissioner at GCC, G. S. Sameeran.

Key complaints have been sent to local GCC units for action.

In Division 123, three complaints were received and GCC AE, Kumaravel acted this Thursday noon against a violator who had dumped debris on Dr Ranga Road.

The workers cleared the M-sand that had been dumped on the sidewalk and remained for a long time. The offender will be penalised, the GCC staff said.

VINCENT's JOTTINGS

By VINCENT D' SOUZA

'I will always be aware' and if I catch something newsy, will immediately report it to you. I enjoyed my past 14 days and by exploring, I came to know many places . . .'

A WhatsApp note from school student Vibha Rajesh who completed her short term training at our newspaper this summer.

We gave her a simple exercise - explore your own backyard. Of which she knew little and we couldn't blame her for that lack of awareness.

So I asked her to explore. She started in a hurry, realised why she was wrong and then took out her cycle and slow-cycled down four streets to the north, the south, the east and to the west of her house. She made a long list of places of interest; shops, religious spots, open spaces, flowering trees and more. And she went about poking her nose into some of those nooks on her list.

One shop showed her the door, a shared workspace welcomed her, a third asked her to show them her report well before she could mail it to the editor. Vibha had all sorts of experiences but she didn't give up, taking a break to have a birthday party.

In the little time we have between the huffing and puffing at the newspaper, we invite teens to be part of the experience, the sort nobody can offer. If they do well, they earn a certificate.

Thanks to SINA, and for the wonderful Ranade Library space in Luz, we have completed two workshops for teens this summer and plan a third. Theme - using smartphones to tell visual stories; not for selfies.

Last weeked, when the Journaling workshop ended, one mother told Shreya Suraj who was the resource that she has discovered the creative talents of her son on the eve of their shift to Bengaluru. While three girls from the Adyar zone packed four pages of the 'dummy' journal in less than an hour - they had so much to tell.

Elsewhere, we received a snappy video from Arjun Sri-dhar of Mandaveli Raja Street and a Grade 9 student who volunteers at EcoKonnectors Trust - a video to promote the recycling of household goods campaign in that area.

Mylapore Times is Open House as far as local stories go. And we welcome young people to link up. They need some basic skills in journalism and then they are ready to go. Keen? Ping us now.

The dogs of Greenways Road

I cycle down Greenways Road most mornings. Until the government changed and ministers' bungalows emptied out, there was a police post on this road.

A family of stray dogs were staying near the police post. Earlier, there were 4 pups but perhaps, only one young one survived.

They behaved very undoglike. Never bark. Perhaps, the proximity to the policemen was their source of strength.

After the police post was deserted since the government changed, the dogs went missing! But I found them back here today!

MYLAPORE REWIND

This column carries excerpts from Mylapore Times, 1996 onwards. This week, we focus on December 1996.

New at December Season (Dec. 7, 1996)

For the first time, Karthik Fine Arts is holding a Tamil Isai Festival from December 26 to January 1. Sabha secretary Rajagopalan said the idea was mooted by L. Sabharatnam of Chettinad Cements. The sabha will honour vocalist T. N. Seshagopalan with the title Tamil Isai Chakravarthy. R R Sabha is introducing an award, Kalarathna, and the first recipient will be M. S. Subbulakshmi. Mylapore Fine Arts Club has scheduled several thematic dances as a new feature. Sabha secretary Venkatraman said that vocalists Bombay Jayashree and Unnikrishnan have now been promoted to the main slot this year. Madras Music Academy has increased the number of junior artistes by 40 per cent, sub-seniors by 25 per cent and seniors by 15 per cent. Academy secretary Maithreyi Ramadurai said that three new awards and one scholarship have been added for the '96 season.

A different kind of marriage (Dec. 14, 1996)

By V. Mangala Bhavani

Vijaya and Lakshmi Narasimhan from Ayana-varam tied the knot at a wedding hall in Mylapore on December 6. However, instead of light music or a kacheri, what followed made news. The couple collaborated with the Lions Blood Bank to organise a blood donation camp after the wedding. Both Vijaya and Lakshmi Narasimhan are regular donors, and they wished to organise one on their wedding day. The idea was to increase the number of new donors. Explained Vijaya, "There is a fear among youngsters that blood donation is painful. They can overcome this fear only when they donate once." Around ten units were collected at this camp, where thirty guests donated blood.

Karaneeswarar Street did not flood (Dec. 21, 1996)

By V. Mangala Bhavani

During the rains in June, the residents in the Karaneeswarar Pagoda Street neighbourhood had to use boats to move about. However, during the current monsoon, the area witnessed no flooding or water stagnation. The residents said that the area councillor, Thambidurai, ensured that new drains were laid by GCC before the monsoon. Generally, it is a block in the drains that leads to flooding. Volunteer workers Prakash Rudramurthi, Ramalingam and Selvaraj were around even on rainy days.

Rotary-sponsored trip to Philippines for Vidya Mandir teacher (Dec. 21, 1996)

R A Puram resident and Vidya Mandir teacher, Maya Sivaramakrishnan, was one of four persons selected by Rotary District 323 to travel to the Philippines as a cultural ambassador to the East. For the selection process, Maya had to clear two levels of interviews, at the club and the district levels. In the Philippines, Maya met industrialists and administrators, and visited vocational centres. She also went to homes for delinquents, orphanages and slums. She gifted sarees to a few people and even demonstrated how a saree is draped. Why Indian women wear bindi and sindoor?

Maya (extreme right) with the President of Notre Dame University (centre) in the Philippines

This was a question that was frequently asked by the locals, said Maya, a resident of Sarada Apartments, Sringeri Mutt Road.

Generations gather to honor a legendary teacher of P. S. Senior – Padmasri Ma'am on her retirement

By Our Edit Team

In a joyful and emotional tribute that bridged three decades of history, the alumni of P. S. Senior Secondary School gathered to bid farewell to their 'legendary' accountancy teacher, Padmasri Nirmal Kumar.

The event, held on April 11 at a T Nagar hotel, marked the retirement of a woman who was much more than a teacher—she was a career-defining mentor to thousands.

Padmasri joined the commerce department of P. S. Senior in 1991. Over her 35-year tenure, she became the school's 'cornerstone', famous for her unique ability to simplify the complex world of balance sheets and ledger entries. Her true impact lay in her ability to weave life lessons into her curriculum, said alumni. Today, her students occupy high seats as chartered accountants, lawyers, and global industry leaders.

Following her official retirement in March 2026, a dedicated committee of past students organised this ceremony.

The farewell ceremony was a departure from tradition. It began with a nostalgic batch-wise attendance and a group rendition of the school prayer.

Instead of long-winded speeches, the evening featured an engaging Q & A session. Padmasri shared a message that captured her life's philosophy: Remember, integrity is your only non-depreciating asset. Protect it fiercely.

The guest list was a testament to her influence, featuring alumni batches from 1993 through to the latest passouts. Many traveled from across the world and from various parts of India to be present for her final roll call.

Also in attendance were current faculty members of the school's commerce department and her family, including her husband, Dr. Nirmal Kumar, himself a prominent academician and HoD of the commerce department at A.M. Jain College.

The celebration reached its visual peak with a series of group photographs. Posing with individual batches spanning over 30 years, was Padmasri who stood at the centre of each group.

Final call: to donate to fund Mylapore students' studies

Mylapore Times Charitable Trust (MTCT) has been seeking donations from Mylaporeans to fund the studies of students in local schools for 2026 - '27. Every year, some 30 students who pass out from Class 10 and Class 12 with good marks and wish to move up and need some funds, apply to the Trust.

The Trust is short of about Rs.50,000 now and it closes the drive this week.

Donations enjoy IT exemption too. Just call Mylapore Times / Shanthi or Neela / at 2498 2244 and they will facilitate easy-to-make donations.

Water hyacinth clogs Adyar river. Rowers frustrated

Rowers at the Madras Boat Club in R. A. Puram say that they have not been able to row on the Adyar river because huge swathes of hyacinth have covered most parts of the river on the north side.

Rower Gayathree Krishna shared photos of the current situation and says that the hyacinth flows down from the west side and clogs the waters here.

NAGESWARA RAO PARK

Ground Report

This is a ground report on Nageswara Rao Park, Luz. One GCC engineer has said ‘70% of work completed’ - on the day Mylapore MLA dropped in to inspect the work. The claim doesn’t appear convincing. Mylapore Times’ notes on the inspection of the ‘work in progress’ undertaken from the Luz Avenue side of the park.

- The massive ‘Interactive Space’ ; the metal skeletal structure is up. Evidently more work has to be executed here
- Badminton Court: floor done, posts fixed.

- Circular Seating around trees: easiest to do but half-way in many spots
- Designer Ribbon Seating zone: basic structure is done. Landscaping expected

- Kids Zone: floor space ready, some playthings erected. Rough cut.

- Two water bodies - excavation over and natural tanks ready, some standing water seen. But no sign of landscaping

- Elevated pathway - basic work over. Not clear what this is meant for

- Water fountains - two. Basic work over.
- Walkways - work in progress but some sections seem narrow - will be tight for use of large number of walkers who are here on weekends
- Open Air Theatre - no sign of work on such a space in the zone earmarked in architect’s design
- Boundary Wall - work in progress, fast.
- Washroom (pre-built) on Luz Church Road side - open for use
- Two Gyms (pre-built) - actively used. By men, women

The Vadam Experts

There are women who stubbornly refuse to buy vadams and take pride in creating their stock every summer. Here are two experts sharing tips and tricks that have worked for them.

By Kanaka Cadambi

Janaki and her mother, Kala Ramesh, make vadams at home every year. A resident of Alamelumangapuram, Kala has been making poo vadam, javvarisi vadam, neeta vadam and vengaya vadam for more than 30 years. Even after she moved to Bangalore post-marriage, Janaki continued to be her mother's trusted lieutenant in vadam-making. Luckily, the vadam sessions and vacations for her six-year-old twin girls were aligned, she said.

Kala has these nuggets of wisdom:

DO

- Add the correct amount of salt for all types of vadams; if not, it will affect the taste, shelf life and output.
- Add only 250 grams of finely cut onions for one kilo of flour for the vengaya vadam.
- Dry the poo, neeta and javvarisi vadams for two to three days in the sun. Put out the vengaya vadams under the sun for at least four to five days. Otherwise, the vadams won't get done well when fried.

DO NOT

- skip adding a bit of javvarisi (sago) to the rice powder, irrespective of the vadam type;
- be in a hurry to add the rice flour before the water comes to a full rolling boil;
- add the ground green chilli without straining it.

Chithra Raghavan from Dr. Ranga Road is an entrepreneur dealing with products related to pharma companies, such as refrigerators, incubators and so on.

But she never misses her tryst with vadam-making during summers. She makes a year's requirement for her family. She makes patta vathal, javvarisi vathal, koozh vathal and elai vadam.

Chithra follows the typical traditional method of making vadams, as lovingly taught to her by her grandmother. "I've been doing this for about thirty years. My mother, Chelammal Devarajan, and my sister, Srividhya, and I would do it together. My sister still joins me. I soak the rice, grind it and wait for approximately one and a half days for it to ferment before making the vadam. Actually, this waiting time depends on the individual's kai soodu," says this mother of two sons.

DO

- Make sure the thickness of the maavu is correct. It shouldn't be too thin or too thick.
- Add sour curd instead of lemon juice to the maavu. It gives great results.
- Wait for the maavu to get the glossy texture, then stir it a bit more before switching off the stove.

DO NOT

- Make vadams during the agni nakshatram phase. "I start as soon as Panguni ends. This gives me enough time to complete my schedule."
- Dry the patta vadams for more than three days. Both these factors could cause the vadams to become red when fried.

Passes for walking inside Poonga freely available

By Fabiola Jacob

Can anybody go for walks daily inside Tholkappia Poonga?

This question popped up after some buzz on social media not only showed former chief minister M. K. Stalin on morning walks here but pointed out that long-term passes for walking were just not available; some saying these were long-booked by VIPs. The issue was addressed. The Trust that manages the Poonga expanded the booking slots. So more people can buy passes and go on daily walks.

There is a steady footfall of regular walkers from the neighbourhood almost every day. Birdwatching, photography, sketching, and just relaxing in nature seem to be popular among a few who regularly come here.

The 3-kilometre-long walking track covers the entire length and breadth of the Poonga.

The Poonga is efficiently maintained with security cameras and guards at important points.

Many first-time visitors tend to treat this place like an ECR amusement park.

Many are unaware of the wide variety of birdlife at the Poonga - it will help to have information boards at the Viewpoint and Watchtower to guide people identify the birds commonly spotted here.

The Skywalk bridge at the eastern end of the Poonga, which connects Phase I & II, has been closed to the public since January.

Tholkappia Poonga also has a café in its premises, called Magizh, run by a self-help women's group, with an interesting snacks menu.

How to Access Poonga

■ Entry tickets / passes to Tholkappia Poonga are available in three categories: visitors, walkers, and institutions, through the website: <https://www.crrt.tn.gov.in/>. First-time or one-time visitors can book slots for the 'Guided Tour' - on from 2.30 pm to 4.30 pm on all days except Thursdays, at Rs. 20 per head. The Poonga is closed to the public on Thursdays and all public holidays.

■ To go on walks, the Poonga opens in the morning from 6.30 am to 8.00 am and in the evenings from 4.30 pm to 6.00 pm. Regular walkers can obtain monthly (Rs. 250), quarterly (Rs. 750), half-yearly (Rs. 1250) and yearly (Rs. 2500) passes on the website.

■ On-entry tickets are also issued at the entrance, at Rs. 20 per head, provided the people at the time does not exceed 250 people.

R. H. Road community highlights three civic issues – sewage leaks, flooding and eyesores under flyover

By Our Edit Team

Residents of Krishna Sarathy Apartments on Royapettah High Road, Mylapore say that their area is affected by frequent drainage water logging and rainwater flooding during short showers.

This area is near Kesari Higher Secondary School, Chennai.

They say the drainage water stagnation on the main road is occurring repeatedly, causing unhygienic conditions, foul smell, mosquito breeding, and inconvenience to residents.

They also say that during light rain, water gets accumulated on the roads and pathways. School and college students and senior citizens face problems while commuting.

They also said that the space below the flyover is currently not maintained properly,

'Unwanted public activities are taking place there.

This area can be developed into a clean and green public space with landscaping, seating arrangements," a note shared by the community said.

They have also presented these issues to the Mylapore MLA for action.

1976 batch of San Thome School to celebrate ‘golden jubilee’

School’s Alumni Assn. to be formally launched

By Our Edit Team

The 1976 batch of San Thome Higher Secondary School (Class XI) is celebrating its golden jubilee on June 7, Sunday at the school auditorium (4 pm to 7.30 pm).

The event will also mark the formal launch of the school’s alumni association. The 1976 batch members said that they have taken the initiative to register the alumni association and create a website that will offer online membership registration.

The 1976 batch is donating 12 smart boards to the school.

The batch’s strength was around 130 students from one English medium and two Tamil medium sections.

“We were able to identify 65 members and created a Whatsapp group,” said the batch member Raman.

Around 25 members are no more.

The June 7 meet is open mainly to 1976 batch members, their families, the then teaching staff and office assistants.

Members of the newly-formed alumni association committee are also invited. As are some alumni from other batches.

Cothas now serves coffee in dawaras

By Baskar Seshadri

Cothas has woken up to tradition. It now serves coffee in dawaras at its two Mylapore stores.

Many customers who are used to having their coffee /

tea at Cothas felt that steel tumblers be used to serve hot coffee instead of paper cups

The management took the hint. There is also a dishwasher to clean the tumblers after use.

Cothas has two stores in Mylapore.

ANOTHER TURN TO NEURO-SURGEON MURDER CASE OF 2013

The Supreme Court has set aside a Madras High Court judgement in the case related to the murder of Dr. Subbiah near Billroth Hospitals, R. A. Puram in Sept. 2013.

The High Court had reversed a decision of the trial court that gave death penalty to seven and life imprisonment to two others. The High Court had acquitted all the accused. The Supreme Court has ruled that all accused serve life imprisonment..

The well-known neuro-surgeon, after his consultation at Billroth, had walked to a local street to his car when he was set upon by a gang and stabbed. He passed away some days later.

A dispute over a property in Kanyakumari is said to have provoked the accused.

A Peep in the Park

By Our Edit Team

4.45 p.m. 37 degrees but seem like 39 degrees.
Two men are on walks on the floor of the newly-laid badminton court inside Nageswara Rao park that is being renovated. The floor is a rough cut; the court isn't ready yet.
Most parts of the park look like an excavated Keeladi. The men's gym is active. Not so the one for women.
In the distance, a woman in a sari, traces the path drawn by an earth mover at work here. Makes it easy for her to keep to this muddy path. At the end of Round 3 of her evening walk, she takes a break and starts to walk again. A man in a track suit also walks - he takes the mud paths that are closer to the park's walls.
A family seems transfixed at the giant peepal tree which was once the lord of this park. Are they wanting to knock down some leaves?
Two small girls amuse themselves by going up and down the gently sloping pathway, a new feature in the park. Their guardian joins them.
More men enter the park from the rear side. Create their own walk paths and sweat it out.
Two men are seated in the built-up Ribbon Seating section, watching visuals in their cellphones. From afar, the seating design looks attractive, like slices of a curved Bebinca!

Accident on TTK Road
